

Atypical interior

Selected features of interior are the part of individual and specific architecture of every unique space. Handiness of the selected sorts of wood and its realization is the main aspect at the choice of original products.